It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

INTRODUCTORY

A complete genealogy of the family of Ezra Davison, his children, grand children, great grand children, great great grand children, and great great great grand children. Also his father and all his brothers and sisters. And a complete line of ancestors back to 1611.

Also notes from the Biography of William Davison, Secretary of State to Queen Elizabeth, with "reasons why," etc. Also records from the Secretary of War, of Ezra, and his father, Asa, when, where, and in what Company and Regiment they served in the Revolutionary War, and when they were discharged, making us all sons and daughters of the Revolution. This alone is worth more than the cost of the book. The author of this book personally knew Ezra and all of his children, except Sarah and Reuben, who died before he was born and all the grand children except probably three. The rest was obtained through correspondence and reliable sources, making record of eleven generations. Hoping this work will please and interest the "Davison Family."

A. A. DAVISON, Manito, Ill.

DAVISON FAMILY

NICHOLAS DAVISON.

1st Generation. NICHOLAS DAVISON was born in London, or Lynn, England, 1611. Married Joanna Hodges. He was at Charleston, Mass., 1639, as agent for Matthew Cradock, a merchant of London, the first nominal governor of Massachusetts, but who never came to America. He went to Barbadoes and thence to England in 1655, returning to America in 1656, in the Spedwell, and died at Charleston in 1664, aged 53 years. His will was proved July 11th, 1664, in which his wife and two children were named, also his brother John. He left an estate inventoried at £1869, 11s, 11d, including lands in Boston, Charleston, Pennequid, and 21,000 acres near Windsor on both sides of the Connecticut river.

NICHOLAS DAVISON'S CHILDREN.

II. DANIEL DAVISON was born April 8th, 1639. Married Margaret Low, April 8th, 1657, and settled at Ipswich, Mass. No record of his death as the early records of Ipswich were lost.

II. Sarah Davison. Married to Joseph Lynch.

II. Daniel Davison, son of Nicholas, had seven children.

III. John, Margaret, Sarah, Daniel, William, Peter, and Thomas.

III. Thomas Davison, son of Daniel. Married Hannah Tracy of Norwich, Conn., Nov. 18th, 1695, at Norwich, Conn. They settled at Preston, Conn., where he owned extensive tracts of land. He held nearly every office in the gift of his townsmen. He was received into full communion in the first Presbyterian Church March 5th, 1699. Died Dec. 2d, 1724. Had seven children.

IV. Jonathan, Margaret, Thomas 2d, Christopher, John, Hannah, and Samuel.

IV. Thomas Davison 2d, son of Thomas, son of Daniel, son of Nicholas, was born 1702. Married Lydia Herrick, daughter of Stephen Herrick of Beverly, Mass., Aug. 31st, 1726. Settled at Preston, Conn. Died 1750. Had ten children.

V. Andrew, Zephaniah, Christopher (died in infancy), Christopher, Daniel, Asa, Lydia, Elizabeth, and two children who died in infancy.

Before recording the 10th generation I will give the Revolutionary War records of Asa Davison, also of his son Ezra. It will particularly interest our young people. Whoever is recorded in this book has sufficient evidence to admit them into the orders of Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, also of the Colonial Dames. The records they sent me from the Secretary of War was evidently for the last years of the war. Will note they are enlisted for short campaigns of a few months or a year. Were discharged and enlisted again. We find in other accounts that Asa Davison was at the Battle of Lexington. Was also with Gen. Benedict Arnold on his famous campaign to Canada. Also we find him at the Battle of Monmouth. We also find that Ezra enlisted the day he was seventeen years old and served the last year of the war. Family tradition says he enlisted when he was sixteen, but the first year is not given in this record from the Pension Office. I will give copy of those records exactly as they were sent to me.

RECORD AND PENSION OFFICE, WAR DEPARTMENT.

Respectfully returned to A. A. Davison, Manito, Ill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 28, 1896.

The records of this office show that Asa Davison served as a private in Captain Nathaniel Webb's Company, 4th Battalion. Connecticut forces commanded by Col. John Durkee, Revolutionary War. He enlisted March 1st, 1778, to serve 5 months, and was discharged Jan. 1st, 1779.

The records also show that Asa Davison served as a private in the 1st Company, Fifth Connecticut Regiment, commanded by Lieut. Col. Sherman, Revolutionary War. His name first appears on the roll for March, 1782, and he was discharged June 22d, 1782.

The records further show that Asa Davison served as a private in Capt. Nehemiah Rise's company, 8th Connecticut Regiment, Revolutionary War. He enlisted Aug. 16th, 1779, to serve six months, and was discharged Jan. 15th, 1780.

The records also show that Ezra Davison served as a private in Capt. Benjamin Durkee's company at Matrosses, at Fort Trumbull, Connecticut. He enlisted Aug. 12th, 1782,* to serve 12 months and was discharged Aug. 12th, 1783.

By authority of the Secretary of War.

Signed by COL. U. S. ARMY CHIEF IN OFFICE.

Asa Davison was also a soldier in the French and Indian War. He first fought for the English and afterwards fought against them. We have reason to believe he was in the English army at Nova Scotia, where the French and Indians were expelled and where many of the English settled after the war. Ezra Davison, son of Asa, was born in Nova Scotia in 1765.

At the commencement of the Revolutionary War we find Asa at Ashford, Mass. Next we find his son Ezra at Preston, Conn., where his oldest son Dr. Asa Lee, was born in 1792. Then at Grafton, N. Y., where Asa died in 1824. Buried in the Brock burying ground in the northeast part of Grafton. Ezra died in 1834, and was buried in the Steward burying ground one-half mile east of Grafton Centre, N. Y. His grave, also that of his wife Deidamia, is marked with marble slabs. Don't know that there is anything but a rough stone to mark Asa's grave. Don't know for certain that it can be found. There should be a suitable monument placed to his memory. Would be willing to attend to it if the Davison family will pay the expense.

* That day he was 17.

V. ASA DAVISON, son of Thomas 2d, etc., had thirteen children.

VI.—1st. Paul was born 176—. Died Feb. 19th, 1805. Was a Revolutionary soldier.

VI.—2d. Ezra was born in Nova Scotia, Aug. 11th, 1765. Married Deidamia Smith, May 24th, 1709, at Argyle, Maine. Died at Grafton, N. Y., April 29th, 1834.

She was born July 24th, 1774. Died at Grafton, N. Y., Sept. 30th, 1853. They are buried in the Steward burying ground one-half mile east of Grafton Centre, N. Y. Marble slabs mark their graves. They were at Preston, Conn., in 1792, as their oldest son Dr. Asa Lee, was born there. We don't know the year they came to Grafton, N. Y., but their son Daniel P. M., was born in Grafton in 1804.

They took up land two miles northeast of Grafton Centre. The country was then a wilderness. They built a house, cleared the land of forest, planted an orchard, and built stone walls. Panthers used to steal their sheep. Bears were in the woods. There were few settlers. No church nor school house. The first school district was organized Sept. 13th, 1813, and they voted to build a school house on a man's land whose name was Cobb. (It was always called the Cobb's school house). It was sixteen feet square with an entry large enough to hold a load of wood. They levied a tax of $75.00, the rest was to be paid in work. Three or four generations of Davison's studied Webster's spelling book, Daboll's arithmetic, and the English reader, and perhaps got punished in the Cobb's school house. The first trustees were Daniel Mills, Foster Reynolds and Bradick Peckham, Jr., Moderator; Elisha Wells, Clerk; Daniel Mills. A great many prominent men were educated in the Cobb's school house. About 1842, Van Ransselaer, the patroon, offered a set of outline maps to the best school in Grafton, to be examined by a committee at the church in Grafton Centre. We carried home the maps and were justly proud of it. I visited the spot in 1889. Found nothing but the foundation stones and thickly grown-up weeds and brush. Ezra lived and raised his family on what we call the old Davison homestead.

VI.—3d. Abigail, daughter of Asa Davison. No record.

VI.—4th. Lydia, married Roderick Stanley.

VI.—5th. Charles. No record.

VI.—6th. Lovina, married Owens.

VI.—7th. Rufus, born May 20th, 1775, at Ashford, Mass.

VI.—8th. Anna, married Moses Macumber. Resided on a mountain in Petersburg in sight of the Davison homestead. We used to call him "the man of the mountain."

VI.—9th. Nathan Davison, son of Asa, born June 1st, 1781, at Ashford, Mass.

VI.—10th. Louisa, married John Phillips. Parents of Asa D. Phillips.

VI.—11th. Olive, married Stoughton.

VI.—12th. Jane, married Sley.

VI.—13th. John P. Davison, youngest son of Asa, married Elizabeth Davis. We called her Aunt Betsy. She was one of the best old Christian women I ever knew. She could pray and exhort with more feeling and effect than most any preacher. They resided on what was part of the old homestead in Grafton, N. Y., until about 1845, he sold out and moved to Hoosick Falls where they kept boarders for the Tremont cotton factory, and the children worked in the factory. After they went to Hoosick Falls, Uncle John's family spelled their name Davidson. In 1850 he moved to Illinois and his children, all but two (Marinda and Lois), went with him. He bought land warrants and entered land eight miles west of Minonk, Ill., a short time before the land office was closed to give the Illinois Central R. R. alternate sections. The land warrants cost him 65 cents per acre. I asked him a few years afterwards how much he considered his land worth, he said: "Wal, I should want as many dollars as I paid cents." He lived on his farm to a good old age, died and was buried in the Yankee Town Cemetery that was laid out on his land. Aunt Betsy followed a few years afterwards.

They had eight children.

VII.—1st. Marinda. Married David Chase. Resided at White Creek, N. Y.

VII.—2d. Nancy. Married Amos West, Jr. Went to Illinois.

VII.—3d. Lois. Married Ed Leonard, and resided at Hoosick Falls, N. Y., where she died.

VII.—4th. Sarah. Married Sam Jackman, at Groveland, Ill. Died in Kansas, Nov. 19, 1904. Buried at Yankee Town.

VII.—5th. Reuben W. Married Emeline Harding at Hoosick Falls. Went to Illinois with his father in 1850. Took up land. Died and was buried in Yankee Town Cemetery. He enlisted in the beginning of the Civil War and served until the war was over without a furlough.

VII.—6th. Jane. Married Henry Jaqueth at Hoosick Falls. Went to Illinois. Died at Yankee Town.

VII.—7th. Lydia. Married Robert Hester at Yankee Town, where she died.

VII.—8th. Charles H. Married. Resides at Yankee Town.

VI. EZRA DAVISON, son of Asa, son of Thomas 2d, etc. Had nine children.

VII.—1st. Dr. Asa Lee Davison, born at Preston, Conn., Dec. 3d, 1792. Married Lydia Lewis at Petersburg, N. Y. Resided several years at Cuba, western New York, where his first children were born. Then removed to Groveland, Ill., being one of the first settlers. From there he moved to Canton, Ill. Was editor of the Canton Register. He had his second wife and family of children. See record in another place. He died at Canton, Ill., March 2d, 1853, aged 61 years.

Uncle Asa was a very prominent man. Sorry we found no one to give a biographical sketch of his life. I could not write it as I never saw him but once before I attended his funeral.

VII.—2d. Sarah Davison, daughter of Ezra, was born June 1st, 1796. Married Miner Lewis. Died at Alford, N. Y. Had no children.

VII.—3d. Lois Davison, daughter of Ezra. Married Lyman Lewis. Second, married Amos West. Died at Grafton, N. Y., Nov. 4th, 1834. Buried one-half mile east of Grafton Centre, by side of her brother Daniel P. M.

(See record of her family in last part of this book).

VII.—4th. Reuben S. Davison, son of Ezra, was born Feb. 10th, 1802. Married Mariam Rogers. Died at Alford, N. Y., July, 1821.

VIII. He had one daughter Almira, who married David Hakes and moved to Pennsylvania.

VII.—5th. Daniel P. M. Davison, son of Ezra, was born at Grafton, N. Y., May 25th, 1804. Was married to Malinda Maxon, Dec. 14th, 1823. She was born March 25th, 1806. She died in Woodford Co., Ill., Aug. 30th, 1871. Buried in Yankee Town Cemetery, aged 65 years. He died in Grafton, N. Y., Jan. 8th, 1844, aged 40 years. Was buried one-half mile east of Grafton Centre. A marble slab marks his grave.

After his father died he bought out the heirs to the homestead where his father and grandfather had lived and died. He was a carpenter by trade, also a farmer. In 1837 he tore down the old house and built a new house on the same foundation where his father's house stood. That house was burned in 1848 while occupied by his widow Malinda, and again rebuilt on the same spot. It stands there yet. Also the same old barn that grandfather Ezra built. Have a kodak picture of the house and barn, also of a section of stone wall taken by Mrs. Dr. Wilcox of Minonk, 1901. The fences on the old place are mostly stone wall. There are stone enough to fence the land in one acre fields and then have enough left to nearly cover the ground. The land produces good grass and the best of potatoes and other vegetables, and such good apples. We well remember the Greecy Greening and the Barn apples, so mellow we could crush them in our hands. The Honey Sweeting, the Pobiquamp that was large and just right for cooking without sugar; the White House Sweeting, a large striped sweet apple; the Cheesebrook and the Rhode Island Greening, the Juicy apple and Streaked Sweeting, and many others that we well remember, and it makes our mouth water to think of them. The trees in the old orchard were nearly all gone when I was there in '89. Daniel was a very ambitious man but never enjoyed good health. He was exempt from military duty, not being an able bodied man. He died before he was forty. He took great interest in religious matters. He was superintendent of the first Sunday School at the Cobb's school house. Was a Methodist and held prominent offices in that church. The preachers were frequent visitors and prayer meetings were held at his house. Held responsible offices in town. He was a good neighbor, a good father, and a good Christian. Had five children. (See record in another place).

VII.—6th. Paul K. Davison, son of Ezra, was born at Grafton, N. Y., Jan. 1st, 1807. Was married to Abigail Burdick. She died. He next married Deborah Taylor. He died at Troy, N. Y., 1884. She also died at Troy. Both buried at Troy.

He was a very prominent man in Grafton. Was well educated. A surveyor, and a deacon in the Baptist church, and superintendent in the Sunday School at Grafton Centre, for a good many years. Though I was quite a boy, there was one peculiarity about Uncle Paul I well remember. He would most always go to sleep during preaching. He had a farm and saw-mill in Grafton. In Troy he had a store.

He had six children by his first wife, and one by the second wife. (See record in another place).

VII.—7th. John Milton Davison, son of Ezra, son of Asa, etc., was born in Grafton, N. Y., on the old homestead Sept. 14th, 1811. His wife Sally Parks was born Feb. 13th, 1805. They were married June 24th, 1832. When first married they lived in the house with his brother Daniel, near the head of Second Pond. Afterwards he bought a farm on the east side of Long Pond in Grafton, N. Y., where he resided several years. They had two children (see record). Aunt Fanny Parks, a maiden sister to Aunt Sally, made her home with them all her life and went with them to Illinois where she died. He lived on a very rough stony farm. The great stone heaps and stone walls he built are a lasting monument to his strength and energy. He always took a great interest in religious matters, being a deacon in the Baptist church. In politics he was a Jackson Democrat, and held the highest offices in the town. He was for several years captain of the Grafton Rifle Company of New York State Militia. Socially, Uncle Milton's was one of the best places in the world to go visiting. They were always so kind and pleasant. They left the farm and kept the Quackenkill Hotel a while before they came to Illinois in 1855. In fact, all the Davisons have left old Grafton where our branch of the Davison family originated. I was there a few years ago and there was not one there and no relatives except by marriage in town. He came to Illinois and took up land west of Minonk on Grand Prairie. Came from the rocks and stones of old Grafton to where you could seldom find a stone large enough to throw at a bird. Tell that in Grafton and you would find your veracity at stake. He showed the same diligence and perseverance that he did in Grafton and soon established another homestead, and by hard work and increased value of land acquired a large fortune.

Aunt Sally died May 27th, 1885. He then lived with his children about ten years to the good old age of 83 years, 6 months, and passed away March 19th, 1895, after a life well spent in church, Sunday School, State and home. They are buried in the Yankee Town Cemetery, eight miles west of Minonk.

VII.—8th. Squire Rowland Davison, son of Ezra, etc., was born in Grafton, N. Y., on the old homestead, Oct. 26th, 1813. Amanda West was born in Grafton, N. Y., Feb. 5th, 1815. They were married Aug., 1831. (He was not yet eighteen and she was past sixteen when married). He died eight miles west of Minonk, Ill., April 8th, 1867. She died at Boulder Valley, Montana, May 22d, 1880. They moved to Illinois about 1838. Went all the way with a pair of horses and wagon. Settled at Groveland, where he took up land and made brick on his own farm and built a good brick house. He was a mason by trade. He also built several brick buildings in Pekin, Ill. He, with a partner, built the Court House that is still in use. His land was what was then called barrens. Timber and undergrowth had to be cleared and grubbed before it could be farmed. For his orchard the seeds were brought from the old orchard on the old homestead in Grafton. I was quite a small boy but I well remember saving apple seeds for Uncle Rowland to take to Illinois. When I came in 1851, it was quite an old orchard. Found only one tree with apples anything like any apples in the old orchard. He lived in Groveland until about the time Uncle John came. He then took up several tracts of land eight miles west of Minonk. A large farm for himself and eighty acres for each of his children. He took a great interest in church and Sunday School. Was a deacon in the Baptist church. I am not competent to write a brief sketch. He was a good man and a true Christian. He was killed in an accident, was harrowing with a pair of young horses. They got frightened and ran. The harrow turned over and a tooth went through his neck, which caused his death. (See record for his children).

VII.—9th. Norman Lewis Davison, son of Ezra, etc., was born on the old homestead in Grafton, N. Y., July 26th, 1817.

Adelia Wait was born Sept. 24th, 1819. They were married Dec. 11th, 1836. She died at Minonk, Ill., Aug. 24th, 1881. He died at the residence of his oldest son Edmond S., at Denton, Nebraska, April 24th, 1902, and was buried in the Minonk Cemetery. He also had a second wife, Aunt Larissa, who died at Minonk.

He was also a Baptist deacon. Took a great interest in the church but not as prominent as some of his older brothers. He was a quiet, good man. (For his children see record).

VII. DR. ASA LEE DAVISON, son of Ezra, son of Asa, etc. Had five children.

VIII.—1st. Augustus Lewis Davison, son of Dr. Asa Lee. Was born in New York State, 1812. Died at Pekin, Ill., Aug. 25th, 1859. He was a lawyer. Had three children.

V. Asa Davison, son of Thomas 2d, son of Thomas, etc. Was a soldier in the French and Indian War. Louisburg, Nova Scotia, was captured by the English July 27th, 1758, after a siege of fifty days. The French had joined the Indians in hostilities against the English and were either expelled or completely mastered, and Cape Breton, which was French until 1763, was subsequently a separate province and was afterwards united to Nova Scotia. It is probable that Asa Davison was in the English army and took his family there after the war, and the French had been expelled and settled there as his son Ezra was born there in 1765. The English made a settlement not far from "Grand Pre." (See Longfellow's Evangeline, and Rand, McNally's map).

William Davison, secretary to Queen Elizabeth.

We have not discovered the "connecting link" between our ancestor Nicholas Davison and William Davison, but the time, names, and places indicate that they must have belonged to the same family if not in a direct line. Nicholas was born in or near London in 1611. William died in 1608, aged about seventy. He had a son Christopher, who was living in 1610, who had something to do with settling his father's estate. William had several other sons but there is no record of any grandsons as there were no wills to be found made by his sons. Nicholas had a grandson named William, and no less than three descendants named Christopher, and it is fair to presume that Nicholas was a son of Christopher and grandson of William, Queen Elizabeth's Secretary of State.

The following are notes taken from the Biography of William Davison:

"William Davison, one of the Secretaries of State to Queen Elizabeth. The date of his birth is not known. His ancestors were Scotch. Died Dec. 21st or 22d, 1608. Buried at Stepney on the 24th. Supposed to be about seventy years of age. The register of that church contains: 'December, 1608. William Davison of Stepney, Esquire Sometime, Secretary to Queen Elizabeth xxiii, day, —."

Married Catherine Spellman, daughter of Francis Spellman, of Norfolk. Will dated Dec. 8th, 1608. Proved Jan. 9th, 1609.

Children: Francis Davison, born 1670. Died before 1621. 2d, Christopher Davison, living 1610. 3d, William Davison, living 1609. 4th, Walter Davison, aged about eighteen in 1608. A soldier.

He was on the commission to try Mary, Queen of Scots, but was not present at the trial and did not sign the sentence.

Latin: Guilrellum Davidsonum. He was a handsome man with a grave expression of countenance and possessed a fine voice. His temper was peculiarly mild and benign; his manner urbane and persuasive, and he has ben described as the sweetest man living.

Virtue and learning were in the former times sure ladders by which a man might climb to honor's seat, but now they will not hold unless the mounting steps are made of gold.

Under King James he held the office of Clerk of the Treasury and Warrants and Custodian of the King's Bench for the term of his natural life.

His daughter Catherine, was Administratrix.

Francis Davison was a poet. In the first page, Vol. of Psalms, composed by him is the following complimentary introduction written by W. Bagnal:

"These Psalms so full of holy meditation
Which David sung by heavenly inspiration.
Our souls by as divine an imitation
Ravish and bless anew in this translation.
Cease not this holy work, but one by one
Chant over these heavenly hymns which may be done
In Divine measure as they are begun,
Only by David's self or David's son."

Christopher Davison petitioned Parliament March, 1609-10, in regard to his father's will in which he proposed to pay all his father's debts and have transferred to him the official positions held by his father under King James. The result is not discovered and of Christopher Davison nothing more is known.

Walter Davison, born in 1580, not named in his father's will. Was a poet, and by profession a soldier. Probably died young and unmarried.

Francis Davison never interested himself about his father's affairs, but his brother Christopher had the management of them.

There is no positive evidence that Sec. Davidson left any descendants, as neither of his sons left a will.

The above are notes taken from William Davison's Biography.

I find in a history of the Pilgrims, a reference to Wm. Davison, as a friend to one of the Pilgrim Fathers, Wm. Brewster:

"After he (Mr. Brewster), left college he was employed to assist Mr. Davison, who was a great man in Queen Elizabeth's time. Mr. Brewster went with him to Holland on some important business and on their return home Mr. Davison gave him a gold chain as a mark of respect for his wisdom and faithfulness. He lived with this nobleman some time, etc., etc."

I present these extracts for what they are worth.

Will resume the records of our family:

He always took great interest in studies, and became probably one of the best mathematicians in the country. Advanced as far as possible at the old Cobb's school house and at Grafton Centre, then attended the New York State Normal school at Albany. Commenced teaching when eighteen and followed it for a great many years. When he married he bought out the heirs to the old homestead and resided there a number of years. He then sold out to Simeon Corbin and came west. Bought land west of Minonk of the Illinois Central R. R. Co. and made a nice home. Followed farming, surveying, and teaching. Has been county surveyor nearly forty years. March 25th, 1902, he and his wife celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Resides at Minonk. Takes great delight in figuring out difficult problems and does surveying in other parts of the State.

VIII.—2d. Almon Alexander Davison, son of Daniel P. M. and Malinda Davison; was born in Grafton, N. Y., June 25th, 1828. Married in Mason Co., Illinois, Jan. 29th, 1854, to Abigail M. Chandler, daughter of Rev. S. P. Chandler. She was born at Minot, Maine, May 21st, 1838. After being together over forty-eight years she died at Manito, April 21st, 1902. Resides at Manito, Ill. Occupation: vineyards, nursery and gardens.

He was born on the old homestead in a house down by the brook June 25th, just midway between two Christmases. He don't remember of ever weighing less than ten pounds. He was not pretty like his older brother nor like the sister who came one and one-half years later. His mother was heard to say she would be ashamed to take such a great homely baby anywhere.

He didn't seem to care much as it is an old saying "the homeliest babies make the prettiest grown people." He grew up to be the tallest Davison in town. Might tell many funny things he said and did that would please the children, but the old folks would think foolish. When he was nine days old ground was broken by Charles Carroll, the last survivor of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, to build the first railroad in the United States, July 4th, 1828 (see U. S. History). When ten or twelve years old he carried stones, old rails, and poles, and fenced off a strip of ground by the roadside. In it he planted all sorts of trees and shrubs, and flowers that would grow in odd spells, while his older brother was in the house studying. Indicating when that young, what the two boys would be good for when grown up. His father died before he was sixteen, and his mother told the boys they must go and hire out. That meant to go to Hoosick and work for some rich farmer. He worked for a farmer in North Hoosick and in a cotton factory in Bennington, Vermont, and at Hoosick Falls, N. Y. He then peddled milk in Hartford, Conn. Also attended high school there. In 1851 he took Horace Greeley's advice and went west. Landed at Groveland, Ill., May 18th, 1851. Bought land of Franklin Pierce, President United States, in the southwest corner of Sand Prairie Township, Tazewell County. Married (see record), had twelve children. Resided on the farm twenty-nine years. In 1880, he left the farm and moved to Manitowish, where he still resides. Is enjoying good health, has not a single bad habit, no tobacco, whisky, nor patent medicine. Enjoying peace and plenty. Has been a life-long Christian and held many responsible position in religious matters. Nearly thirty years as superintendent of Sunday Schools. At present writing he is all alone in his comfortable home trying to complete the Davison family and get it ready for the publishers. He was a school-boy at Cobb's school house when the first telegraph was in operation. Can well remember the first Loco Foco matches and daguerotypes, sewing machines, reaping machines, and nearly everything else that is now in common use. All in one lifetime. Wonder what our great grandchildren will live to see. Hope they will remember us kindly, and that this short sketch will be of interest, especially to the children of the "Davison family."

VIII.—3d. Louisa Malinda Davison, daughter of Daniel P. M., son of Ezra, son of Asa, etc., was born at the old homestead in Grafton, N. Y., Dec. 22d, 1829. Her father was an earnest Christian man, who she, his only daughter, loved fondly. He died when she was fourteen. His teachings and example, and also that of her Christian mother helped to form in her a sweet and gentle disposition. She received a good common school education at the old Cobb's school house. In her seventeenth year, Sept. 29th, 1846, she was united in marriage to William A. Parks, a young man of pure principles, of unusual energy and ambition, with a fair common school education and a good discernment of human nature. He seldom misplaced confidence in man. They both united with the Baptist church in Grafton, N. Y. They resided a few years on the Davison homestead, where their first children were born (see record). They kept the hotel and store at Quackenkil, N. Y., awhile and also the hotel and store at East Grafton before moving to Illinois in 1854. They went by way of Chicago and La-Salle. Arrived at Minonk where they found the mud deep and abundant. (Uncle Hank used to express it "half clay and half tar.") The city of Minonk then consisted of a railroad switch and one house. They located about ten miles northwest of Minonk and lived at several places until 1857, when they moved on what is now known as the Wm. A. Parks homestead. He bought his land on credit and owing to the hard times and the Civil War he paid interest to amount to more than the first cost of the land. They had their experience in pioneer life—poverty, sickness, and losses. But being hopeful, cheerful, and trusting in God they established a good home. The District school was taught in their house. The pioneer teachers were D. H. Davison, Jacob McChesney, Henry Lohnes and Mrs. W. R. Dunn. In 1874 they built a fine large house. They moved into it and after an illness of only three days with pneumonia, he died Jan. 27th, 1875, leaving his family with a good home but some in debt. In a few years she, with the help of her boys cleared up the incumbrance and to the last their home was the dearest place on earth.

Her last years were spent mostly with her children at each of whose homes she had a room. She always brought sunshine and happiness wherever she went. On account of her delicate health, she was spending the winter at the residence of her daughter Sarah, wife of Dr. E. Mammen at Bloomington, Ill., where, with all her children about her, she died Dec. 30th, 1902, a few days past seventy-three years of age. Her husband and children testify she was an ideal wife and mother. She bequeathed part of her estate to benevolent and religious purposes. One of her favorite quotations was: "Blessed are the peacemakers, etc." She not only taught it but lived it. While all were together in the old home the children embraced the Christian religion of their parents, and family worship was maintained.

Y., until 1855, when, with his father he came to Illinois, and located in Clayton Township, Woodford County, Illinois, where he resided on the farm until 1887, when he removed to Eureka, Ill., to give his children the benefit of Eureka College. He was elected County Treasurer in 1886. He resided in Eureka until 1889 when he removed to Metamora, the county seat. After his term of office expired he returned to the farm and lived there until the fall of 1902, when he moved to Minonk. During that winter he had a severe attack of La Grippe from which he never recovered. He went to Excelsior Springs in Missouri, without receiving any benefit but gradually grew weaker until Sept. 13th, 1903, when he peacefully passed away. He was a prosperous farmer. Owned 720 acres of land besides town and other property. Was nearly a life-long member of the Baptist church and was a leader in society, socially, religiously, and politically. Was a Democrat and cast his first ballot for James Buchanan. He was Treasurer of Clayton Township twenty years, and was also Supervisor. Jan. 1st, 1900, he assisted in organizing the State Bank of Benson, and served as vice-president. Was a member of the Minonk Lodge, No. 927 I. O. O. F. He resided in various places. Don't know in how many States. A few years ago found him on the Island of San Juan, near Vancouver Island. Is now at Thorp, Washington State. He was a soldier in the Civil War. Sketch of Adeline and Abigail West. Their mother Lois died when they were four and two years old. They lived with S. Rowland Davison, whose wife Amanda was their half-sister, and other places until their father married again to Amy Wells. Then they went home. But in a very few years their father, Rev. Amos West, was taken with consumption and went to Illinois to reside with his son-in-law, R. Rowland Davison, who had previously moved there. It was thought then that the climate of Illinois would cure the consumption. He died at Groveland, Ill. The two little girls were then left alone, orphans indeed. They then moved to Hoosick Falls, where friends were residing, and worked in the cotton factory, and went from there to Bennington, Vt., and from there to North Adams, Mass., where they were both married. Then the girls seem to have separated. We will first follow Adeline.

She married George R. Bly. He only lived a year and a half and died of consumption in 1850. She then went to Adams, Jefferson Co., N. Y., to where her two half-sisters Emeline Maxon and Louisa Reed lived. In 1853 she was married to Lorenzo Maxon. They moved in February, 1854, to Walworth, Wis. In 1865 they moved to Farina, Ill., and have lived there over thirty-nine years. She is now enjoying peace, quiet, and plenty, at the beautiful home of her son, who is proprietor of a drug store, and an officer in the bank at Farina, Ill. Received her photograph recently. Had not seen her since 1847 at North Adams, Mass.

Abigail Rosalinda West, widow of the late Rev. Charles M. Lewis, was the youngest daughter of Rev. Amos and Lois Davison West. She was born May 10th, 1832, at Grafton, N. Y., where she lived till the death of her father in 1843, after which her home for a time was with friends at Hoosick Falls, N. Y., and later with a married sister, Mrs. Geo. R. Bly, at North Adams, Mass., where in 1852 she was married to Charles B. King, of that place. To them were born five children. (See record at end of this sketch). In 1861 at the beginning of the Civil War, Mr. King enlisted in the 10th Mass. Regiment, and with the exception of a few month's furlough served until the troops were mustered out in September, 1864. He died in 1875 at the North Hampton, Mass., Insane Asylum, from the effects of injuries received while a soldier. During the war she was for a time at Groveland, Ill. She remained at North Adams after the death of Mr. King, until the spring of 1881, when she went with her daughter to Adams, N. Y., to visit her father King's family, where she stayed until the following October, when she was married to Rev. Charles M. Lewis of Verona, N. Y., and went there to live.

Mr. Lewis soon received a call from the First Alfred Seventh Day Baptist Church. He died in the spring of 1883. Mrs. Lewis has since made her home at Alfred, with the exception of a few months spent at Miller Place, Long Island, and at Brooklyn, N. Y. She attended lectures given to the theological students of Alfred University.
